I'VE NEVER KNOWN WHICH I LIKED BETTER, THE GREEN ONES OR THE WHITE ONES!!

THE BIGGEST QUARREL COMES WHEN SANTA CLAUS A DEPUTY SELECTS THE TREES TO BE TAKEN TO THE REAL WORLD!!

I'LL INTRODUCE YOU TO QUEEN CEDARELLA FIRST. SHE'S THE OLDEST ONE AND HER GREEN TREES WERE HERE LONG BEFORE THE PAINTED TREES MOVED IN!!

I'M GLAD TO MEET SO MANY FRIENDS FROM THE REAL WORLD.

THANK YOU, YOUR MAJESTY!

MY PEOPLE AND I WERE VERY HAPPY HERE AND IN THE REAL WORLD UNTIL QUEEN SILVERETTE AND HER PAINTED FOLLOWERS MOVED IN!!

TAKE A LOOK TIME AND WANDER AROUND AS YOU LIKE!!

WE THANK YOU, YOUR MAJESTY!

NOW I'LL INTRODUCE YOU TO QUEEN SILVERETTE. SHE'S VERY ANGRY BECAUSE SHE KNEW YOU HAD SEEN QUEEN CEDARELLA FIRST!!

WE WON'T SAY A WORD!

WELCOME TO OUR LAND. AS YOU WILL SEE MY PAINTED PEOPLE ARE VERY NEW AND YOUNG AND LOVELY.

QUEEN CEDARELLA IS CLOSER AND A LITTLE OLD-FASHIONED, THE LINES OF HER FACE AND FIGURE SHOW THE YEARS SHE HAS LIVED. SHE LOOKS VERY UNPLEASANT FOR SOME REASON!!

EXPLORE OUR COUNTRY TO YOUR HEART'S CONTENT, MY DEARS!

THANK YOU, YOUR HIGHNESS!

I NEVER DREAMED THAT THE GREEN TREES AND THE WHITE TREES WERE UNFRIENDLY !!

"SO! LET'S QUARREL OVER THE ORNAMENTS... OVER THE LIGHTS ... OVER EVERYTHING!"

THE WHITE TREES CALL THE GREEN ONES OLD-FASHIONED! THE GREEN ONES SAY THE WHITE ONES ARE GAUDY AND UNNATURAL!

WHAT'S THAT BUILDING WAY DOWN AT THE END OF THE ROAD?

THAT'S THE HOSPITAL FOR THE SICK TREES THAT NOBODY WANTS!

WHAT MAKES THE TREES SICK?

SOME ARE CROOKED! SOME ARE LOPSIDED! SOME ARE JUST SMALL! ALL KINDS OF THINGS ARE WRONG WITH THEM!

WE GO IN AND SEE THE SICK TREES?

PERHAPS YOU CAN CHEER THEM UP! THEY'RE VERY SAD BECAUSE THEY CAN'T GO INTO THE REAL WORLD!

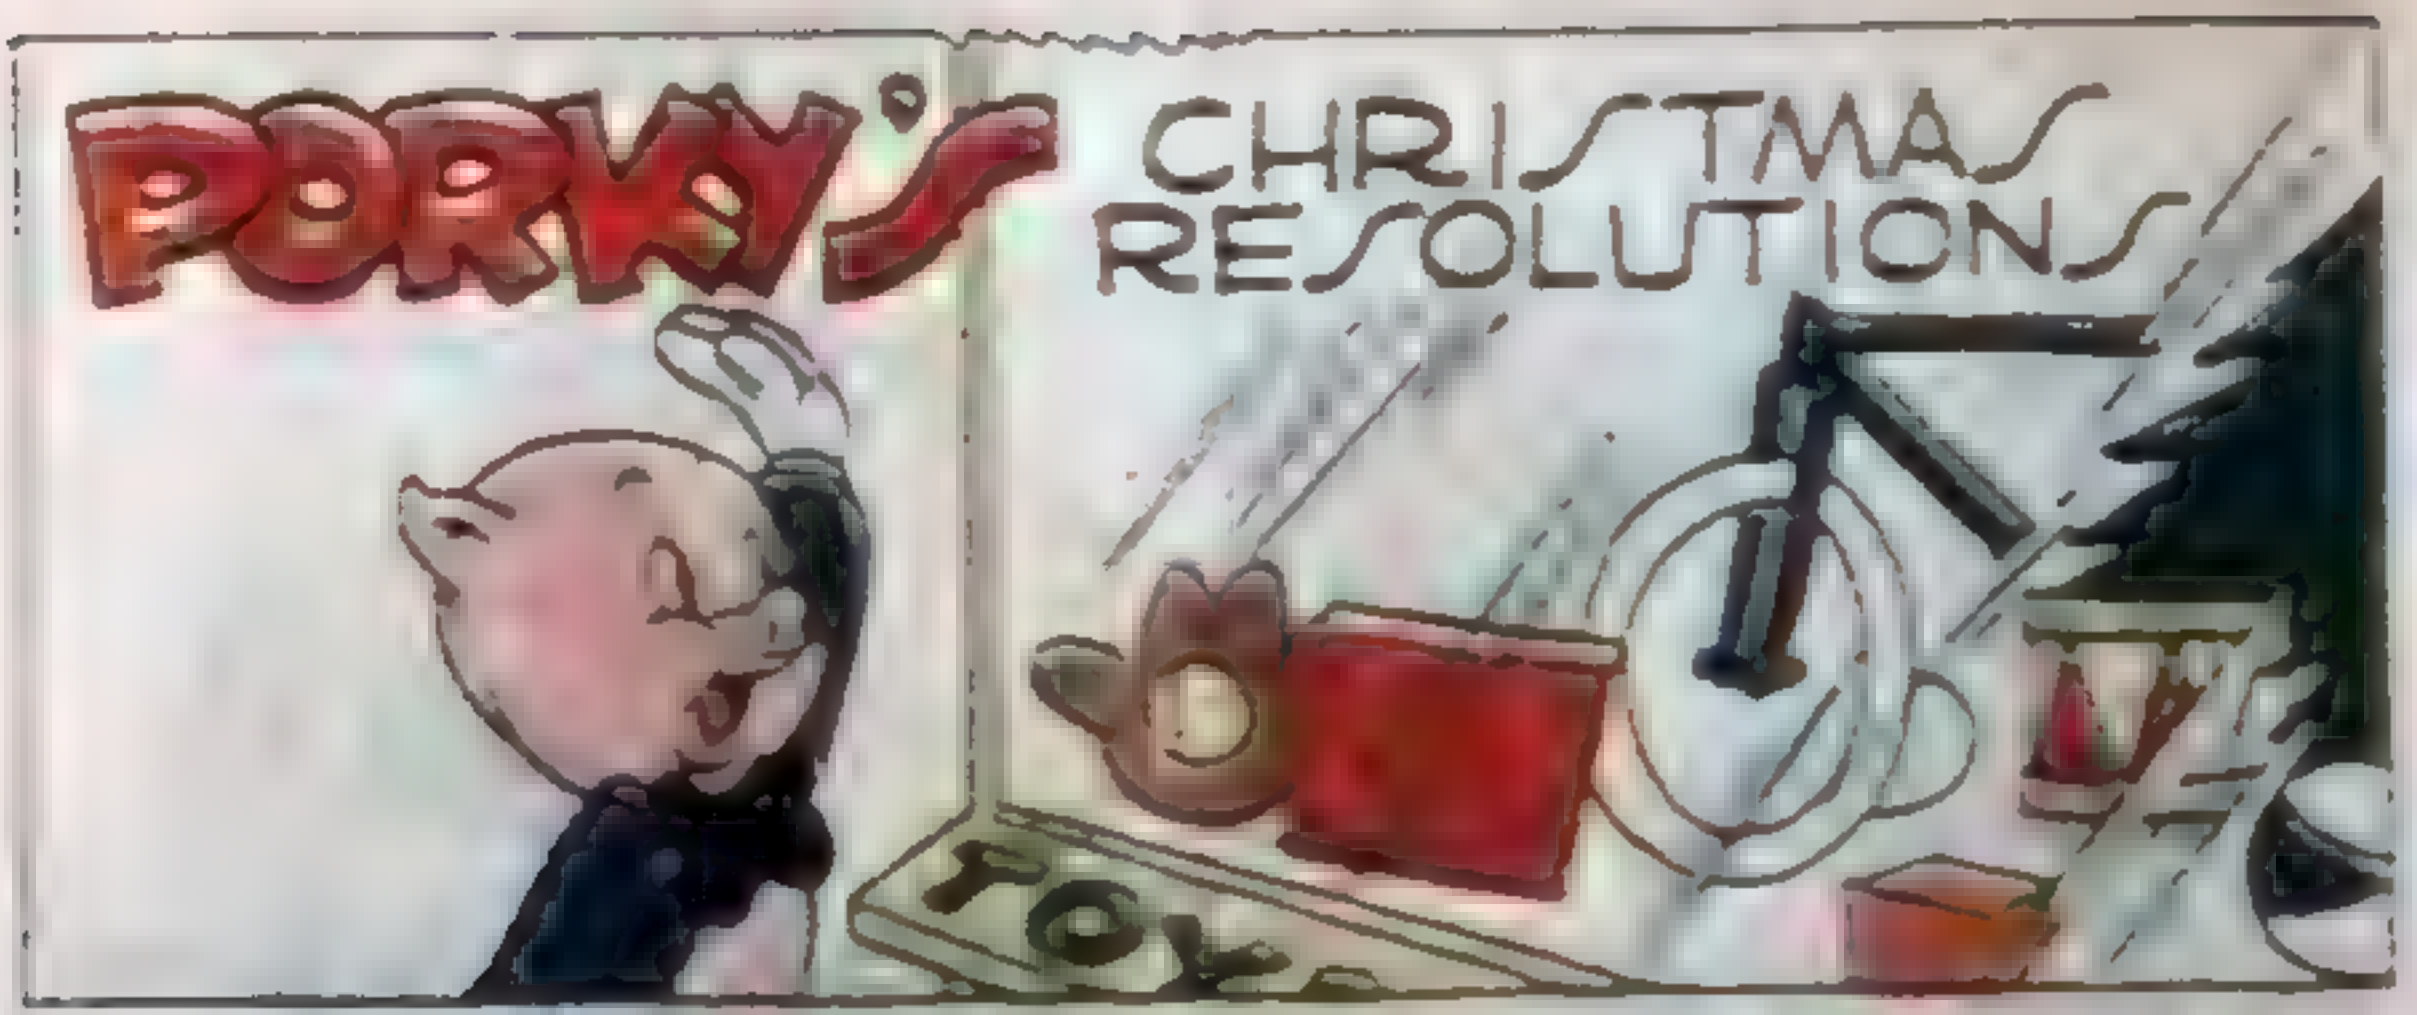
MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU, TOO!



Porky Pig and Petunia pressed their noses against the store window and gazed with rapt admiration at the Christmas toys behind the glass.

"Look at that engine bicycle" Porky exclaimed. "Oh, how I wish I could get it for Christmas"

"Well, let's talk to the store's Santa Claus" Petunia suggested practically. "He might be able to do something about it"

Eagerly they hurried into the store and found the jolly chubby Santa Claus sitting in his big armchair.

Quickly, in excited stutters, Porky told Santa about his great desire for the beautiful shiny bicycle in the window.

"I just must have that bicycle more than anything else in the world!" Porky concluded with a wistful sigh.

"Well, well, my little friend, just give me your name and address and we'll see what can be done about it" Santa beamed, his eyes twinkling. "It all depends, of course, on how good you've been this past year and how good you'll be in the three weeks between now and Christmas"

Porky was smiling with happy hope when he and Petunia went out of the store. But as they stood once more gazing at the glittering bicycle his mood was a bit troubled.

"I'll never have that bicycle unless I can convince Santa I've been good enough to deserve it" he wondered.

"Of course, you will" Petunia assured him. "It's up to you to be absolutely sure, now, that you make your New Year's resolutions and start keeping them now! Then you'll POSITIVELY be good enough to get that bicycle"

That's a wise idea' Porky agreed enthusiastically. Then his mood grew sober, serious and he pondered his puzzling problem. 'I resolve' to be a neat and clean little boy and to mind my manners' he said to himself. 'I'm also going to work extra hard at my lessons and not to fight with anybody'

For the next few weeks Porky was so good that his mother was worried. His face and hands were always clean and scrubbed. He did errands and housework 'cos he 'must' one way or another. In fact, he even thought of things to do 'cos he 'must' be very good. He was always washed and ready for meals before his mother called him.

"Do you 'feel' well, Porky?" his mother asked anxiously one evening, when Porky decided to go to bed 'hours' before his regular bedtime.

Then Porky told his mother about the beautiful engine bicycle and about his resolutions.

"That's a splendid plan" his mother approved. "I'm sure you'll be so good that we'll be able to get that bicycle for your present on Christmas morning"

The hours crawled slowly by, and at last it was the day before Christmas. It was late in the afternoon and Porky was humming happily set his mother to go to the grocery store and to get the packages for supper.

As he ran through the snowy streets, he suddenly heard loud voices and a shrill scream. He turned a corner and saw big Fluff Rabbit and the town bully-ing Little Peter Pig who was shouting and trying to grab the packages which small Peter held in his arms.

"S-Stop that, you b-big b-bully!" Porky yelled and rushed towards Fluff Rabbit.

Instantly the burly Fluff turned towards Porky and hurled a snowball squarely into Porky's face.

"You keep out of this!" he ordered in a rough, tough voice. Then he swerved back to the crying Peter and yanked the packages from his arms.

Porky lunged toward Fluff. The surprise attack knocked the much larger bully to the ground. He screamed up and swung his arms at the attacking Porky. The battle was fast and furious. Up and down, round and round they struggled. Then, falling in the melting snow and mud, Fluff and grabbed one surprised Porky was small but his anger gave him strength.

Finally it was over. Fluff ran away, leaving the red-faced, panting Porky the victor. Scattered and bemused, but triumphant, Porky gave his packages back to the grateful little Peter and moved wearily homeward.

"Porky Pig!" his mother exclaimed. Her face was stern and unsmiling. "You've been 'fighting'. You're late. We to go to the grocery store. You never done any of your chores. Supper has been ready and we're waiting for a big hour. Why did you have to be so naughty on Christmas Eve when you've been good for so long? Now go and take a bath immediately."

Porky's heart sank. He had broken every one of his resolutions! The beautiful shining bicycle swam before his eyes one resolved he knew that he had only 'forever'.

He was so sleepy that he did not hear the carols ringing and the small tapping voice of little Peter Pig.

He awakened early on Christmas morning, rested and excited. Then he remembered -and deep gloom settled over him. He decided to stay in bed. He could not face the day without the beautiful gleaming bicycle.

Finally his mother's voice roused him. He dressed slowly and trudged downstairs. He stopped in the door of the living room and gasped. He could not believe his eyes.

There was his Christmas tree. And, beside it, stood the beautiful shining bicycle.

"Merry Christmas!" his mother smiled happily. "Why didn't you tell me why you 'fought' with Fluff Rabbit and why you were late, Porky?"

"B-Because I b-broke my r-resolutions," Porky stammered.

"But fight wasn't breaking your resolutions," his mother told him. "You did exactly the right thing, Porky, and I'm proud of you. It is always right to fight to protect someone who needs you. Peter Pig was here last evening. He told me all about it and he brought you this gift to thank you for helping him."

His mother held out a gleaming glass and chrome bicycle seat for the bicycle.

"G-Gosh!" Porky exclaimed, his little face beaming. "This sure is the nicest Christmas I ever had. And I'm going to ride it and keep my resolutions all year!"
